Our total release sprays are available with or without antibacterial elements, and can also be made with or without fragrances. Simply place the can on the floor clip the button down and allow the whole can to empty filling the room the with the product. Enter the room after 20 minutes to find it smelling fresh and having left an antibacterial coating on every surface that evaporates during the 20 minutes you're waiting to leave no residue. Perfect for use in aeroplane cabins, train carriages and other large spaces.

TOTAL RELEASE SPRAYS

Solutions for a cleaner world

Our blast air fresheners can be made to the same specifications as the total release and sprayed as and when you like wherever you like. Be warned though these sprays are powerful and would not be suitable for use in areas such as car interiors - for car interiors we recommend using an air conditioning sanitising spray, contact us for more information.

Our surface sprays can also be made to be antibacterial so that you can spray them onto the surface, and wipe to clean. They are great when used after a total release so that you can be even more confident you've left the area as clean as you need it to be.

Sometimes even when you've cleaned the surfaces nasty smells can remain and on these occasions we recommend our odour neutralising sprays which work to absorb the elements that smell preventing the smell from returning.

Our hand sanitising sprays are BS EN 1276 AND BS EN 1650 approved with an alcohol content above 70%. Simply spray onto your hands rub together and allow the product to evaporate. You can also use this product as a surface spray.
